

I don't need you - Stranger things one-shot by fanfic116

Category: Stranger Things, 2016

Genre: Hurt-Comfort, Supernatural

Language: English

Characters: Eleven/Jane H., Kali/Eight

Status: Completed

Published: 2019-08-02 17:16:02

Updated: 2019-08-02 17:16:02

Packaged: 2019-12-12 16:55:49

Rating: M

Chapters: 1

Words: 529

Publisher: www.fanfiction.net

Summary: Trapped in the mall a friend comes to help but does this friend turn out to be a foe?

I don't need you - Stranger things one-shot her leg was throbbing.. Crash Billy had gotten in and no doubt brought the monster with him they ran and took cover, max El and Mike behind the red car, Nancy Jonathan Will and Lucas behind the counter at panda gnocchi then the back door in the gap opened and closed but no one noticed apart from El, then they realised that Billy wasn't there and neither , a group of five young adults revealed themselves wearing masks

"Jane?" a familiar voice said, El stood up her leg dripping with blood

"sister?" El breathed El suddenly took on a pale look, as if she'd been painted with white-wash - even her lips were barely there. Then with one step backwards she crumpled like a puppet suddenly released of their strings. the group ran to her "El whats wrong?"

"my leg" Jonathan rolled her the leg of her pants and revealed the not very skilled bandage, her un-rapped it rev, revealing the bite earning disgusted groans from the kids around them. All of a sudden her leg started moving, the monster had left a part of its self inside her. "Wait here, keep her awake" Jonathan said as he ran somewhere.

"Secure all the entrances" Kali told her gang, she walked forwards and Mike moved out the way.

"Jane, i told you that you should have never left, look what happened now" she joked light heartedly.

"did you get them?" El murmured "the bad men" "we got some, the ones that hurt me and you, and your mother Ray is still alive after you spared him that night we had to lay low for a while after you attacked that man at the gas station, they won't hurt us again, i promise"

Jonathan returned holding gloves, a knife and a wooden spoon. "you're going to want to bite down on this"

"show me something" El said to her sister, Kali nodded. El took the wooden spoon and put it in her mouth. Kali's nose began to bleed.

Eleven looked past her friends as they disappeared and she saw herself and Kali as children in the rainbow room playing having fun, the two young, but not innocent girls faded away. El's Mother suddenly appeared "mama?" she whispered.

"El?" Mike said

"she can't see you" Kali mumbled eyes shut. The vision changed her mother was gone. Jonathan had gotten the monster out.

"bring her back" the vision changed to a much darker one showing the bad men hurting her, her mother going brain dead, the monster attacking her and her friends.

"Stop it" she screamed they glass window in the store behind them shattered she sent Kali flying back which shocked her out of making El see things. She could suddenly see her friends again.

"why would you do that"

"i have told you before Jane, you have confront your past in order to kill this thing" "go away-"Jane"-sisters don't lie, go before i make you" Kali backed away, her gang following.

"bye Jane"

She will win the battle with the help of her friends she didn't need to be pushed.